You know him. Hes the funny, sweet guy with the great eyes who asks you a million questions and seems mesmerized by every reply. He takes you on the greatest, longest date of your life. He swears he loves cats and cuddling. And his apartment is so clean. He just might be the One. Then, he doesnt call, doesnt write. He sees you coming down the street and he hides behind a tree. Hes a cad. And this is his story. After all the girls guides to sex in the city, here - at last - is the view from the other side of the bed. In Cad: Confessions of a Toxic Bachelor, Rick Marin offers himself up for an in-depth look at mans superficial nature. In this rollicking, frequently insensitive and ultimately poignant memoir, Marin proves a master of the light touch even in his darkest hours. Part Hugh Heffner, part Hugh Grant, his tale is a rakes progress (inspite of himself) from incorrigible cad to reconstructed romantic. It is one mans story but many men will read it as their own. And, for any woman who has ever wondered What was he thinking? - This is what he was thinking.
