While her cousin Jane is doing her a favor, heiress Molly Applegate is holding down the fort at Janes day care center, getting ready to close it down for two weeks for summer break. Which might have been fine (definitely better for the kids!), except that Broadway producer Dominic Longstreet, reluctant babysitter to his brothers children, had believed the day care would be open. So Molly, sensing a bit of fun here, and with nothing else to do, volunteers to be live-in nanny for the duration. The fact that Dom was drop-dead handsome, and looked at her as if she was a special candy he couldnt wait to unwrap has nothing to do with anything. Really. Dom tries to work, free-spirited Molly is determined to distract him, and the kids are busy being kids, which means they are both seen and heard a little too much to suit Doms heavy work schedule. And that was even before Molly bought the jumbo-size water guns! Dont miss Book One in the Summer Lovin Series, This Must Be Love.
